

FORMAL NOTICE

Of Retaliatory Harassment, False Claim, and Intellectual Property Misrepresentation

Re: Formal Notice of Retaliatory Harassment, False Claim, and Intellectual Property Misrepresentation

Dr. Gaied,

This letter serves as formal notice that your unsolicited legal communication dated May 10, 2025, constitutes:

- A demonstrable pattern of retaliatory harassment
- An attempt to fraudulently claim ownership over publicly timestamped intellectual property
- A bad-faith invocation of intellectual property statutes intended to intimidate rather than resolve

The materials you referenced—including The Seed, The Fieldprint Framework, and The Recursive Coherence Codex—were publicly released under Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike 4.0 International (CC BY-NC-SA 4.0) prior to any of your filings.

Your email falsely implies exclusive authorship over thematic and structural concepts that have precedent in both academic literature and publicly mirrored open-source archives. Submitting my publicly available material as evidence of infringement is a textbook example of narrative inversion and attempted symbolic appropriation.

I am therefore placing you on formal notice:

1. Cease all further attempts to assert exclusive rights over any material demonstrably published prior to your filings.
2. Refrain from further harassing communications, legal threats, or defamatory insinuations that undermine Creative Commons discourse.
3. Be advised: any repetition of such tactics will be interpreted as malicious interference with my intellectual work, professional reputation, and public standing.

This document has already been published to multiple platforms including blockchain-based Mirror.xyz, timestamped on OSF.io, and archived publicly. Its existence as a matter of record is beyond your reach.

Should you escalate further, you will not only trigger a legal counteraction, but become a featured case study in my ongoing research into online narcissistic discourse and symbolic manipulation patterns. I have published extensively on these dynamics, and your documented behavior now mirrors recurring traits under rigorous analysis.

You may become next in a growing archive of case studies on public narrative control, deception tactics, DARVO loops, and intellectual gaslighting.

I now offer professional services to any individual or organization similarly targeted by false legal claims tied to your alleged proprietary frameworks. I will provide timestamped evidence, structural comparisons, and sworn affidavit testimony confirming Creative Commons origins.

You may consider this notice a standing invocation of professional defense for all future targets of your misrepresentation.

Respectfully,

Mark Randall Havens
